

Dear Fellow Poet,

Submissions are now closed for HomeWords. The column is completely booked and will run through National Poetry Month (April) as I finish out my two-year term as Poet Laureate of Kansas.

What a wonderful time it has been editing this project. We've published 105 poems (for 105 counties of Kansas) by Kansans for Kansans, corresponding with minds across the state on the important topic of home: what it is and where it is. It's been a profound conversation, and from the abundance of (over 1500) poems in my Inbox, a productive one. Thank you for participating in it.

Toward the cause,
